I. Description

Drawing on recent studies and debates within the study of Biblical and Old Testament Theology, this course provides an opportunity for deeper reflection on the hermeneutics of Scripture within theology. In this course students will locate their academic discipline(s) within the broader context of theological and cultural reflection. It also exposes students to the resources of the biblical tradition for their M.A./Ph.D. studies.

II. Purpose

A. Knowing: To know the breadth of disciplines within the theological academy and to locate one's own discipline within that context. To know the role that canonical resources play within the theological enterprise and the role that theological resources play within the exegetical enterprise. To know the development of the discipline of biblical theology and the impact of hermeneutical shifts on this discipline.

B. Being: To fully embrace the global agenda of the theological enterprise. To gain sensitivity and appreciation for theological disciplines outside one's own expertise. To reflect on and embrace a spiritual theology for the academic vocation.

C. Doing: To articulate the mission of one's own particular discipline within the larger theological enterprise. To showcase the biblical resources available for carrying out one's particular academic theological pursuit. To learn the skills and contact points for dialogue with those within other theological disciplines and for facilitating such dialogue among colleagues.

III. Reading Resources

IV. Schedule

Phase 1: Hermeneutics, Biblical Theology and the Theological Disciplines (Jan 13, 20, 27, Feb 3, 10)

The first phase of this course is a combination of reading, lecture and discussion to lay the historical and hermeneutical foundations for understanding the discipline of Biblical Theology within the larger context of the Theological Disciplines. Outside of class seminar participants will be reading and working on their Position Papers (see Phase 2) as well as doing preparatory reading for class discussion.

Theological Discipline Position Paper Due: Feb 13, 11:59pm

No Class Feb 17 (Reading Week)

Phase 2: Presentations and Discussion of Theological Discipline Position Papers (Feb 24, Mar 3).

The first week the students will work within smaller groups, which will each have representatives from various disciplines of theological research, facilitated by faculty members. The second week we will debrief these sessions.

Seminar Paper Due: Mar 6, 11:59pm

Phase 3: Seminar Papers (Mar 10, 17, 24, 31, Apr 7)

In these weeks seminar participants will present major seminar papers. These papers will be reviewed by classmates prior to class.

Phase 4: Wrap up (Apr 14)

Discussion on Spiritual Theology of Academics et al.

V. Learning Experiences

A. Theological Discipline Position Paper

Contribution: For this paper the student will write a 6,000 word research essay articulating the hermeneutical, historical and theological foundation for the particular discipline they are pursuing within theology and the ways in which that discipline relates to the larger theological agenda.

- Definition: The paper will begin by identifying and defining quickly the Theological Discipline, whether New Testament Studies, Old Testament Studies (or more broadly Biblical Theology or Exegetical Theology), Systematic Theology, Historical Theology, or Practical Theology. If a sub-discipline is desired (for instance in Practical Theology, such as Liturgics or Homiletics or Theological Ethics) then please consult the professor. (10%)
- Historical Foundations: The paper will provide an orientation to the history of the particular sub-discipline within theology (thus, if Old Testament, then the history of the study of the Old Testament within Christian Theology and beyond; if Ethics, then the history of Ethics within Christian Theology and beyond). This history will have to be selective, by identifying key figures or streams over the past 2 millennia or over the past 2 centuries. The history should end with a concentrated overview of present approaches to the sub-discipline in which the student is taking her or his place. (30%)
- Hermeneutical Foundations: The paper will provide an orientation to key hermeneutical and epistemological issues which have shaped their particular sub-discipline of theology. This may be integrated with the historical foundations as one traces from pre-modern, to modern, to post-modern approaches to the study of the sub-discipline, but the paper should show sensitivity to recent shifts and advances in hermeneutics that must be taken into account when articulating one's sub-discipline of theology. (15%)
- Theological Foundations: Having oriented the reader to the historical and hermeneutical foundations for a particular sub-discipline of theology, the paper will then articulate where the student places herself or himself within the sub-discipline, based on the various approaches articulated in the historical foundations, taking into account the hermeneutical realities articulated in the hermeneutical foundations section, and then based on particular theological foundations. This theology may be drawn from whatever sources are considered legitimate for the student, ranging from biblical texts to creedal expressions, to systematic theological categories, etc. It is not enough to just describe the history and hermeneutics of a sub-discipline and then articulate a preference for a certain approach. One's approach must be linked to a theological basis. (30%)
- Larger Theological Agenda: Finally, the paper will show how the student's sub-discipline of theology relates to the broader array of theological sub-disciplines ranging from those focused on the horizon of Scripture (traditionally, exegetical theology, biblical theology) to those focused on the horizon of Culture (traditionally, systematic theology, historical theology, practical theology). (10%)

Although this paper will have a personal dimension, it must not be journalistic autobiography, but rather must engage in deep hermeneutical, historical and theological reflection that engages key primary and secondary theological resources. Those resources will include (but not be limited to) the articles read in class, as well as those available in the textbooks and in the course Avenue 2 Learn website, as well as any others the writer finds helpful. Papers are due in .pdf digital form via Avenue 2 Learn.

Peer Review: Contributors will be put in groups of 2-3 led by a Divinity College professor and will be required to read their group members' position papers prior to the session with your professor and come prepared to reflectively interact. A minimum 2 page written review (focus on the content of the paper, both areas for affirmation and improvement/clarification, no summary of the paper needed) is to be prepared for each other member of the group. This will form the foundation for the oral discussion in your groups (you will not read this formally, but use as a basis for conversation) and then a digital .pdf copy sent to the other members of the group immediately after your session. Each contributor should come prepared to articulate, defend and even revise their approach in light of the discussion.

Value: Contribution: 25%; Review: 10%

Due: Paper: Feb 13, 11:59 p.m.

Reviews: immediately after the session on February 24.

Submission: .pdf digital format to Avenue 2 Learn

B. Seminar Paper

For this learning experience the student will write a minimum 7000 word research paper that has a direct relationship to one's concentration for their advanced degree. There is some flexibility on the topic, but it must be related in some way to exegetical and biblical theology, that is, the study of the canonical resources for theological reflection. Half of this paper must focus on texts and discussions related to the discipline of exegetical/ biblical theology while the other half of the paper must interact with texts and discussions related to at least one other non-biblical theological discipline. The precise topic will be chosen in consultation with the professor, but it should be a topic that is conducive to interaction across the theological disciplines. For instance:

- one could study recent approaches to eschatology in systematic theology alongside recent exegetical/biblical theological work on eschatology in Pauline literature;
- one could study recent research within Old Testament studies on the genre of lament alongside recent systematic theology which uses trauma theory to structure theological categories;
- one could study the kerygmatic form of the gospels and recent discussion on this topic alongside recent pastoral theological reflection on homiletics;
- one could study recent approaches to war through the history of theology alongside a study of recent work on the Divine Warrior motif in the Bible.

The key is that you responsibly work with the best original and secondary resources within both biblical studies and non-biblical studies. In class the student will provide a precis of the paper (no more than 3 visual slides in no more than 5 minutes) and then class members are required to engage the paper in reflective and critical interaction

(minimum 2 page review with focus on the content of the paper, both areas for affirmation and improvement/clarification, no summary of the paper needed) which will be posted to our Avenue 2 Learn website weekly and will form part of the basis of your participation mark.

Value: 45%

Due: March 6, 11:59 p.m.

Submission: .pdf digital format to Avenue 2 Learn

Reviews: due 15 minutes after the session presented to Avenue 2 Learn

C. Class Experiences

This is a graduate seminar style class of collaborative learning in which professor and students are engaged in active learning together. Learning to critically (in its positive sense) engage material is essential to functioning in a graduate program and is expected of all students in our MA/PhD. It is expected that all students will not only attend these sessions, but also that they will assume responsibility for contributing to and learning from the experience. This means that readings will be completed prior to arrival in class with reading responses to this reading posted to A2L (minimum 2 pages). The goal is for both student and presenter to pursue the acquisition of knowledge in the learning environment. It is expected that ALL members of the class will ask questions and contribute insights whenever opportunity is given, during and following presentations by professor or student alike. Students are graded on their level of preparation and contribution.

VI. Avenue 2 Learn

We'll be using Avenue 2 Learn this semester for sharing resources for reading, responding to one another's work as well as distributing papers for evaluation.

VII. Format and Evaluation

So I can properly evaluate your work the following guide is to be used for papers in this class. See further: <https://mcmasterdivinity.ca/rules-regulations/>.

- Medium for Submission: All material in this class is to be submitted in .pdf format through Avenue 2 Learn.
- College Style for Submission of Written Work: All stylistic considerations (including but not limited to questions of formatting, footnotes, and bibliographic references) must conform to the McMaster Divinity College Press Style Guide <https://mcmasterdivinity.ca/resources-forms/mdc-style-guide/>. Failure to observe appropriate form will result in grade reductions.
- Further style details: Title page, footnoting where appropriate, and bibliography are not included in the length required. Material should be written in excellent modern literary English with proper grammar, spelling, punctuation, and rhetoric (including an introduction, conclusion, and logical flow of argument). If it helps, an outline may accompany the paper, but this is not included in the length of the “paper.” Secondary and primary sources should be used, cited, and footnoted appropriately.

- Gender Inclusive Language: McMaster Divinity College uses inclusive language for human beings in worship services, student written materials, and all its publications. It is expected that student will use inclusive language in all MDC assignments. When referencing biblical texts, students should preserve the integrity of the original expressions and the names of God while using gender-inclusive language when referring to human beings. Biblical quotations should be taken from a gender-inclusive translation such as: NRSVue (2022), NIV (2011), CEB (2011), NLT (1996), or CEV (1995).
- Citations: You must cite the source of your material very carefully, not only when quoting from a section, but also when drawing from it as a resource. Quotations should be kept to a minimum as I favour summary and integration of secondary literature (footnoted).
- Academic Honesty: Academic dishonesty consists of misrepresenting the authorship or ownership of written work through deception or other fraudulent means. In an academic setting this may include copying or using unauthorized aids during tests or examinations; plagiarism, that is, presenting another person’s (or generative AI’s) words, ideas, data, or creative work as one’s own without appropriate acknowledgement and citation; or submitting work for credit in more than one course without instructor permission..

*This is a special issue for those pursuing second and third degrees in theology. It is understood that students will be building on earlier ideas and work, but it is expected that students will not hand in material that is merely “warmed over” previous work. If there is reason for concern, speak with the professor about this.

- A special note about Generative AI: Students are expected to do their own thinking and write their own papers and assignments. Generative AI is not to be used to do this work. The use of AI to produce content that is then submitted as though it were the student's own work constitutes plagiarism and is a violation of the Academic Honesty Policy. While AI tools may be used to correct errors in English grammar, usage, and mechanics, Generative AI must not be used to translate assignments from a student's native language into English. All degree programs at MDC are taught in the English language. Students are expected to be sufficiently proficient in English to engage fully in academic discourse in these programs.
- Rubric: The following evaluation guide should be kept in mind as you write:
 - Presentation: Is the spelling correct? Does the grammar/syntax reflect proper English? Is the paper laid out properly?
 - Argumentation: Is there a good introduction and conclusion? Does the argument flow with ample support? Is the question answered? Does the voice of the paper writer dominate the argument, rather than merely provide a string of quotations?
 - Content: Are all the points considered? Is there proper documentation of sources used? Is there appropriate use of secondary literature while providing engagement with data (often the biblical text) which proves the argument?

VIII. Policies

- Absence Due to Illness: If you must miss class due to an illness, you must contact me as soon as possible to let me know. Likewise, if I should become ill, I will communicate with you via A2L about how we will make up class sessions. Even if much of the course content will be made available via A2L, it would still be a good idea to have a friend take notes for you, if possible.
- Inclement Weather: If on a class meeting day MDC closes due to inclement weather, I reserve the right to move the lessons and, where possible, class activities for the week to A2L (asynchronous format). This will help to ensure that we stay on target in the course.
- GuardMe Statement: Students at McMaster Divinity College have access to the GuardMe Student Support Program (GMSSP), which offers free, confidential mental health and wellness support 24/7. Through the program, students can connect with counsellors, access helpful tools and resources, and receive support anytime, from anywhere. Support is available by phone (1-844-451-9700) or visit gmssp.org to download the Student Support App.
- AODA: In accordance with the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA), McMaster Divinity College (MDC) is committed to supporting a learning environment that is inclusive and accessible to all students, including those with disabilities. Students who require academic accommodations to participate fully in this course must register with Student Accessibility Services (SAS) (<https://sas.mcmaster.ca/>) of McMaster University. SAS will work directly with the MDC Registrar to ensure reasonably appropriate accommodations are in place. Students with accommodations must use the SAS portal to activate the accommodations relevant to each course at the start of each term in which they are enrolled. Please note that accommodations must be requested in advance to allow sufficient time for implementation. Accommodations are not retroactive and will not be applied to coursework or activities that have already concluded.

IX. Accountability

Note on Timeliness of Submissions: Since this is a seminar style course all participants must be timely in their submission of material. People will need to read the various submissions and once the schedule is set there is no room to switch dates. For that reason there are considerable penalties for late materials in this course. Each DAY a paper is late will mean the loss of half a letter grade (5%). Take this into account when planning out your semester.

Note on Timeliness of Attendance: From time to time you may find that you are late for class. Late arrivals, hereafter called “tardies,” are unacceptable and will lead to a negative disposition in the professor and your classmates. Such “tardies,” however, can be redeemed at the rate of Timbits for the entire class at the session following the second tardy as well as a coffee for the professor.

Rule of the Timbits (הלכה התמבטים): Because “tardies” raise the ire of the covenant community (bound by this covenantal syllabus document delivered here at the foot of the “Mountain”), those who are late for class must have a means by which to atone for such “accidental sins” (בשגגה, if they are defiant sins, בַּיַּד רָמָה, then the offender will be “cut off” from the community, see Num 15:27-31).¹ which means anyone late for class will need to bring Timbits for the entire class (מִנְחָה) no later than the next class meeting plus a Tim Hortons coffee (נֶסֶךְ) for the professor (cream, no sugar). This מִנְחָה and נֶסֶךְ will function simultaneously as both a sin offering (חֲטָאת, Leviticus 4) atoning for the accidental sin of the offender and a peace offering (שְׁלָמִים, Leviticus 3) enhancing the fellowship of the covenant community. See the high professor for further details and any torah-rulings (see Haggai 2:10-14) regarding specific situations.

Especially important is to take seriously the cry of Joel of old in 1:13:

חָגְרוּ וְסָפְדוּ הַכֹּהֲנִים	Gird yourselves with sackcloth
הִילֵלוּ מִשְׁרָתֵי מִזְבֵּחַ	And lament, O priests;
בָּאוּ לִינוּ בְּשָׁקִים מִשְׁרָתֵי אֱלֹהֵי	Wail, O ministers of the altar!
כִּי נִמְנַע מִבַּיִת אֱלֹהֵיכֶם מִנְחָה וְנֶסֶךְ:	Come, spend the night in sackcloth
	O ministers of my God,
	For the grain offering and the drink offering
	Are withheld from the house of your God.

And note his promise of a reward to those repent in 2:14:

מִי יוֹדַע יָשׁוּב וְנָחַם	Who knows whether He will turn and relent
וְהִשָּׂאִיר אַחֲרָיו בְּרָכָה	And leave a blessing behind Him,
מִנְחָה וְנֶסֶךְ לַיהוָה אֱלֹהֵיכֶם	Even a grain offering and a drink offering
	For the LORD your God?

¹ Of course, see the “definitive” work on this: Mark J. Boda, A Severe Mercy: Sin and Its Remedy in the Old Testament (Siphrut: Literature and Theology of the Hebrew Scriptures 1. Winona Lake: Eisenbrauns, 2009), 53-54. For specific torah ruling also see the fuller הלכה התמבטים in Avenue 2 Learn.
