The mission of McMaster Divinity College is to develop effective evangelical Christian leaders for the Church, academy, and society through graduate-level education, spiritual development, and vocational formation.

Class Begins Wednesday, September 16, 11:00-12:50 EST. The course is hybrid, available in person or on-line, meeting weekly except on Oct. 14 (reading week). The last day of class will be Dec. 16. Class meeting room TBA.

Course Description

The mission of the church is always done in a context. The context is inevitably entwined with a culture. Thus, as the church engages in its mission it must understand its relationship with culture. This course is designed to help students consider the relationship between the church and culture and how to think effectively about how to do ministry in a contextualized way that aids its effectiveness. The course will consider topics like the nature of culture, how culture is formed, a theology and philosophy of contextualization and some of the cultural issues that the church is and will face as it seeks to do mission in a Canadian, North American and globalized context.

Learning Goals:

Knowing:

1. As a result of this course students will be able to articulate what culture, as a concept, is.
2. Upon completion of this course students will be able to articulate a coherent philosophy of contextualization based on biblical, historical, and theoretical practices.
3. As a result of this course students will be able to identify several major cultural issues facing the church as it moves into the mid-late 21st century.

Being

1. Upon completion of this course students will have had the opportunity to reflect on the impact of culture on their own lives and ministries.

Doing

1. Upon completion of this course students will have a foundational philosophy for contextualizing their ministry in a mid-late 21st century cultural context.
2. As a result of this course students will have a foundational ability to anticipate the future of Western culture and its implications for ministry in the next 50 years.

Working together as a learning community

A core value of our class is that it is a “learning community,” designed to be a place where each member of the community can grow through positive affirmation and constructive input. We should all come to the community as people in process, open to be deconstructed and formed through our mutual learning experience.

As a responsible member of our learning community, you will be expected to commit yourself to the class throughout the semester that we are together. This means that in our class interactions you will endeavor to treat all members of our class with respect and dignity. Your presence is necessary for our community (that is our class) to function at an optimal level, therefore it is expected that each student will faithfully attend class weekly. Assignments should be handed in on time and in good order as an email attachment to the instructor in a word or pdf format (more detail on this will be offered at the first class meeting). Assignments should be sent in on or before the due date specified in this syllabus. All assignments handed in after the due date may be subject to a penalty of 3% for each day that they are late (including weekends).

Instructor's role and availability

As professor it is my responsibility to empower each class member as a learner by treating each student with respect and dignity. I come to position myself as a fellow learner in the community and to offer information, reflection, experience, and questions for us to reflect on together. Further, it is my responsibility to give good evaluation and feedback to your thinking, both as you offer it to the class in our discussions and through written work so that your growth through this class can be maximized as a result of our collaboration.

I will do my best to answer any email enquiries within 24 hours during weekdays (Mon.-Fri). I do not generally answer emails Saturdays or Sunday during the day. If an email is sent later in the afternoon on a Friday it will probably not be answered until Sunday evening or Monday morning. I will do my very best to grade assignments within three weeks of submission.

I am not only available but also welcome and enjoy connections with each of you outside class time. If you would like to meet together in person or via zoom, please feel free to make an appointment with me for a time that works for both of us.

Bevans, Stephan B. Models of Contextual Theology (Revised and Expanded Edition). Maryknoll, NY: Orbis, 2002.

Assignments

1. Paper: A Theology of Culture

This paper should offer a clear understanding of what culture is, how it is formed and what it means for a Christian and/or the church to engage responsibly and effectively in the creation of and tending to the culture in which they find themselves. The paper should provide a reflection on and definition of culture itself, some thoughts on how culture is formed and primarily what a Christian theology and practice of culture making, and stewardship looks like. The paper should demonstrate conversance with course material and the textbook Created and Creating as well as at least eight other sources. These sources should be peer reviewed (books published by well established publishers and/or articles found in academic journals). Other sources can be used but only as an augment to the primary research.

This assignment is designed to help meet learning goals Knowing #1 and Being #1.

This paper should be 12-13 pages in length (double spaced) and will constitute 40% of the course grade. It is due Oct. 21, 2026.

2. Class Presentation: Contextual Analysis

Students will choose a cultural artefact that provides insight into the place of Christianity and/or the church in contemporary North American culture and present it to the class for discussion. Examples of an artefact could be a specific issue that is highly relevant to the church today, a news story on a pressing contemporary issue, an opinion article, a scene from a movie or t.v. show, lyrics from a popular song, or even a personal encounter of some sort. The presentation should offer an analysis of how the artefact represents the place of Christian faith in contemporary culture, that is, how does this artefact demonstrate the place of Christianity and/or the church in current culture. It could be an artefact that positively or negatively demonstrates how the church is trying to engage contemporary culture, or it could be an example of how the wider culture perceives the church, or how the place of Christianity is changing within culture, etc. The presentation should clearly articulate how the artefact is particular to the contemporary setting (not something that is applicable universally or that would have been equally as applicable in a different time period). The presentation should include a question for the class that will help to provide a springboard for class discussion.

This assignment is designed to help meet learning goal Knowing #3 and Being #1.

Depending on the size of the class, presentations will take place on Nov. 18, 25 and Dec. 2 (a schedule of exact times, and order of presentations will be provided before the second class meeting). Presentations should be no more than 12 minutes in length (going over time will have an adverse effect on the final grade), followed by 5-7 minutes of discussion and further Q+A. The presentation will constitute 20% of the course grade.

3. Paper: A Theology and Practice of Contextualization

This paper should seek to offer a clear theology and philosophy of contextualization. That is, an answer to the question how does the church proclaim its message effectively in various cultural contexts? The paper should answer questions like; how does scripture help us reflect on the work of contextualization? How does the history of the church help us think about contextualization? What other resources are necessary for doing contextualization well? What are some of the challenges in doing contextualization faithfully? What are some current issues that demand close reflection on contextualization and why? What is your current approach to and/or philosophy of how the local church should approach the work of contextualizing the Christian gospel today? The paper should draw from Biblical and secondary resources including the course textbook Models of Contextual Theology and The Missionary Letters of Vincent Donovan, 1957-1973 as well as at least eight other credible sources (books published by well established publishers and/or articles found in academic journals).

This assignment is designed to help meet learning goals Knowing #3 and Doing #1 and 2.

The paper should be 12-13 pages (Double spaced) in length and will constitute 40% of the course grade. It is due Dec. 9, 2026.

Additional notes:

Academic Honesty

Academic dishonesty is not qualitatively different from other types of dishonesty. It consists of misrepresenting the ownership of written work by deception or by other fraudulent means. In an academic setting this may include any number of forms such as: copying or using unauthorized aids in tests, examinations; plagiarism, i.e., submitting work that is not one's own (regardless of the means of its production, including Generative AI) but passing it off as if it is; submitting work for credit in a course for which credit is being or has already been given, unless the previously submitted work was presented as such to the instructor of the second course and has been deemed acceptable for credit by the instructor of that course; aiding and abetting another student's dishonesty; giving false information for the purposes of gaining admission or credit; giving false information for the purposes of obtaining deferred examinations or extension of deadlines; forging or falsifying McMaster University or McMaster Divinity College documents.

A special note about Generative AI: You are expected to do your own thinking and to write your own papers, etc. Generative AI is not to be used to do this work for you. Using AI to produce content for you and then submitting that content as if you produced it is considered plagiarism (i.e., submitting work that is not one's own as if it is one's own) and is a violation of the academic honesty policy. Additionally, although there may be value in using an AI tool to correct mistakes in English grammar, usage, and mechanics, Generative AI is not to be used for translating from your native language to English. All degree programs at MDC are taught in English language. Students are expected to be sufficiently proficient in English to engage fully in academic discourse in these programs.

GuardMe Statement

Students at McMaster Divinity College have access to the GuardMe Student Support Program (GMSSP), which offers free, confidential mental health and wellness support 24/7. Through the program, students can connect with counsellors, access helpful tools and resources, and receive support anytime, from anywhere. Support is available by phone (1-844-451-9700) or visit gmssp.org to download the Student Support App.

AODA

In accordance with the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA), McMaster Divinity College (MDC) is committed to supporting a learning environment that is inclusive and accessible to all students, including those with disabilities. Students who require academic accommodations to participate fully in this course must register with Student Accessibility Services (SAS) (<https://sas.mcmaster.ca/>) of McMaster University. SAS will work directly with the MDC Registrar to ensure reasonably appropriate accommodations are in place. Students with accommodations must use the SAS portal to activate the accommodations relevant to each course at the start of each term they are enrolled in. This will generate a notification to course instructors outlining the activated accommodations for the student in their course. Please note that accommodations must be requested in advance to allow sufficient time for implementation. Accommodations will be implemented once the faculty member has been notified. Accommodations are not retroactive and will not be applied to coursework or activities that have already concluded.

Gender Inclusive Language

McMaster Divinity College uses inclusive language for human beings in worship services, student written materials, and all its publications. It is expected that inclusive language will be used in chapel services and all MDC assignments. In reference to biblical texts, the integrity of the original expressions and the names of God should be respected, but you will need to use gender-inclusive language for humans, and you will need to quote from a gender-inclusive version such as, for example, the following: NRSVue (2022), TEV/GNB/GNT (1976), CEV (1995), NLT (1996), NIV (2011), and the CEB (2011).

Bookstore

All required and recommended books for this class are available from the Hurlburt Family Bookstore located beside the entrance to the Nathaniel H. Parker Memorial Chapel of McMaster Divinity College. To purchase in advance, you may contact the bookstore manager, Bernice Quek, by phone at 416.620.2934 or 416.668.3434 (mobile); or by email at books@readon.ca. The Hurlburt Family Bookstore also carries other books and merchandise and is open throughout the academic year during posted hours.

- Violations of this policy will be treated as academic misconduct under institutional guidelines.

Absence Due to Illness

If you must miss class due to an illness, you must contact me as soon as possible to let me know. Likewise, if I should become ill, I will communicate with you via A2L about how we will make up class sessions. Even if much of the course content will be made available via A2L, it would still be a good idea to have a friend take notes for you, if possible.

Inclement Weather

If on a class meeting day MDC closes due to inclement weather, I reserve the right to move the lessons and, where possible, class activities for the week to A2L (asynchronous format). This will help to ensure that we stay on target in the course.
