Hybrid Course - Winter Term 2020

On Campus Days: Feb. 18, 19 T/W

Biography:

Dr. Phil Zylla is VP Academic and Professor of Pastoral Theology at McMaster Divinity College. His research interests include theology of suffering, pastoral care, and Christian spirituality. He is author of The Roots of Sorrow: A Pastoral Theology of Suffering and is currently working on a volume entitled, Spiritual Formation of the Congregation. Before moving into theological education in 2001 Dr. Zylla was active in pastoral ministry in the Canadian context for over 18 years. He is married to Melodie and lives in Ancaster, ON.

Course Description:

The past twenty years has witnessed a significant increase in academic research in the field of Practical Theology. The growth of this literature is a significant indicator of the emerging intellectual search to find foundational understandings that will support the advancement of the mission of the church in the world. Of course, this is not a new interest. The church has always deliberately reflected on its mission and its practices. However, the widely-felt need for expanding the nucleus of academic literature to support the theoretical interests of practical theology represent a new development in the field. This course is a call for constructive imagination and humility in approaching the great questions that emerge from Edward Farley calls, “the ecclesial existence and the constitutive activities” of the church in the world. The course seeks to draw widely from various thinkers who have helped to shape the current [often contested] direction of Practical Theology. Participants in this course will be invited to embrace the intriguing challenge of developing informed and carefully researched contributions of their own, regardless of the complexity of such a task.

“...my contention is that at the heart of every good theology lies not simply a plausible intellectual vision but more importantly a compelling account of a way of life, and that theology is therefore best done from within the pursuit of this way of life.” - Miroslav Volf, “Theology for a Way of Life” in Practicing Theology, Miroslav Volf and Dorothy C. Bass, eds., (2002), 247.

“The basic task that orients practical theology is to promote faithful discipleship. . . We speak of the purpose that sets the basic task of practical theology as supporting and sustaining lived discipleship. Rooted in Christian tradition, practical theology focuses on called people who manifest a particular faith through concrete ways of life.” Kathleen A. Cahalan and James R. Nieman, “Mapping the Field of Practical Theology” in For Life Abundant, 2008, 67.

“Practical theology is critical, theological reflection on the practices of the Church as they interact with the practices of the world, with a view to ensuring and enabling faithful participation in God’s redemptive practices in, to and for the world.” – John Swinton and Harriet Mowat, Practical Theology and Qualitative Research, 2006, 6.

Course Objectives:

Knowing

1. To identify and engage with key theorists in the field of practical theology.
2. To interpret current literature that supports academic research in the field of practical theology.
3. To understand the framework for practice-led research.

Being

1. To discern the personal trajectory of one’s own life and ongoing contribution to research concerning the mission of the church in the world.
2. To deepen one’s concern for the intellectual life of the church.

Doing

1. To evaluate some of the foundational literature in the field of practical theology in order to develop working assumptions regarding practice-led research in this field of study.
2. To locate oneself in the field of practical theology and to determine possible paths for on-going research.
3. To join a relevant academic society related to one’s chosen area of focus in practical theology.

Required Course Textbooks:

Course Design:

This is a hybrid course that combines face-to-face class time with online educational experiences. While there is no specific grade for ‘course participation’ it is assumed that participants will keep pace with the core readings, the assigned online Primer Lectures, and the required discussion threads. There are times when participants will work quite independently, and other times that we will work as a group collaboratively. I will try to signal the sign posts along the way. Go to the course at Avenue to Learn:

COURSE OUTLINE

Course Introduction: Welcome Video Dr. Phil C. Zylla

Module 1, Week of January 6th

Theme: On Becoming a Practical Theologian

Review: online primer lecture

Read: James D. Whitehead, “The Practical Play of Theology” in Formation and Reflection: The Promise of Practical Theology, Lewis S. Mudge and James N. Poling, eds., 36-54.

Thomas H. Groome, “Theology on our Feet: A Revisionist Pedagogy for Healing the Gap Between Academia and Ecclesia” in Formation and Reflection: The Promise of Practical Theology, Lewis S. Mudge and James N. Poling, eds., 55-78.

Synchronous WebEx Introductions Wednesday, January 8th 2:00 p.m. EST

Join the WebEx discussion and give us a brief introduction to who you are and what it means for you to become a practical theologian. What evidence is emerging as you reflect on this challenge?

Module 2, Week of January 13th

Theme: The Nature of Practical Theology

Read: John Swinton and Harriet Mowat, Practical Theology and Qualitative Research, 2nd edition, 2016, Part I, Theoretical Foundations, 3-94.

Kathleen A. Cahalan and James R. Nieman, “Mapping the Field of Practical Theology” in For Life Abundant, Dorothy C. Bass and Craig Dykstra, eds., 62-85.

Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, “Five Misunderstandings about Practical Theology.” International Journal of Practical Theology, Vol. 16, No. 1, 2012, 5-26.

Edward Farley, “Interpreting Situations”, in Formation and Reflection, Lewis S. Mudge and James N. Poling, eds., 1-26.

“Theology should not be subdivided into independent fields of study to the extent that it becomes no more than the aggregate of all these sub-disciplines. A field of study is not a section of theology; it is a particular perspective on theology [that is] an indivisible whole.” LM Heyns and HJC Pieterse, A Primer in Practical Theology, 5.

Online Threaded Discussion –

Using Microsoft Word post to the course at Avenue to Learn a one-page summary of insights gained with respect to the field of practical theology. How is your understanding being shaped? What clarifications have you made? What definitions of practical theology are you encountering in your reading? What is the confluence and dissonance that you are noticing? What is your own emerging definition of the field of practical theology? What new questions are being provoked?

Module 3, Week of January 20th Envisioning Practical Theology

Review: online course Primer Lecture

Read: Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, ed., The Wiley Blackwell Companion for Practical Theology. 2014, 1-88.

Dorothy C. Bass and Craig Dykstra, eds. For Life Abundant: Practical Theology, Theological Education, and Christian Ministry,

- a. Part I, “Envisioning Practical Theology”, 2008, 1-61; and
- b. ONE chapter of Part II – either Chapter 4, 5, 6, or 7. *Choose the practice that is most aligned with your own research practice interest: ministry integration (Chapter 4), worship (Chapter 5), ritual/liturgy (Chapter 6) or pedagogy (Chapter 7).

Module 4, Week of January 27th Method in Practical Theology

Read:

The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Practical Theology, Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, ed., Part II, “Method: Studying Theology in Practice”, 89-266.

each course participant will choose one of these essays (methods) to reflect on and to summarize in a 3 page document.**

n.b. In this part of module 1 you will become familiar with a wide range of methods that can be employed in practical theological research. Read for general familiarity the whole section, but focus on a primary method chapter that you have been assigned. Follow the assignment instructions and prepare a three page executive summary for your colleagues for posting to the course for all participants to read. Post using course drop box.

Post by: January 31st, 2020 @ 4:00 p.m. EST.

Module 5, Week of February 3rd The Bible and Practical Theology

Review: course Primer Lecture

Part I Embracing the Vocation of a Practical Theologian

Part II Introducing Practice-led Research

Part III Conducting Research in Practical Theology

Part IV Shaping the Commitments of Practical Theology

Part V Practical Theology as Theology

Module # 6 Week of February 24th

Book Study: Richard Osmer, Practical Theology: An Introduction, 2008, 1-218.

“Practical theological interpretation involves four key tasks: the descriptive-empirical, the interpretive, the normative, and the pragmatic. It is helpful to conceptualize these four tasks with the image of a hermeneutical circle, which portrays interpretation as composed of distinct but interrelated moments . . . the four tasks of practical theological interpretation interpenetrate.” -Osmer, Practical Theology: An Introduction, 11.

Online Threaded Discussion - Group 1

Module # 7 Week of March 2

Book Study: Terry A. Velting, Practical Theology: ‘On Earth as It is in Heaven’, 2005, 3-244.
“All this to say that we live in the world as interpreters of the word, that we are always interpreting ourselves and the world around us, that to be human is to be an interpreter of life in all its rich distinctions and variations. The art of interpretation is a fundamental condition of human existence.” -Velting, Practical Theology, 23.

Online Threaded Discussion - Group 2

Module # 8 Week of March 9th

Book Study: Pete Ward, Introducing Practical Theology: Mission, Ministry and the Life of the Church, 2017, 1-188.

“Practical theology has a purpose and a reason; it is meant to produce something. It is mistaken to see the main product or result of practical theology as primarily an academic paper, a thesis, or even a book. Practical theology is not just a class taken as training for ministry; it is about changed lives. So the purpose and eventual product of practical theology should be the transformation of individuals and communities.” Ward, Practical Theology, 167.

Online Threaded Discussion - Group 3

Module # 9 Week of March 23th

Practice-Led Research Projects

Group Presentations – WebEx Wednesday March 25

2:00-5:00 p.m. EST

(n.b. Group times will be established in the face to face time of the course.)

Module # 10 Week of March 30th Servant Scholarship for the Church

Primer Lecture online

Online Threaded Discussion

Module # 11 Week of April 6th sign up for WebEx Personal Interviews

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

1. Method in Practical Theology –

10 marks

You will be assigned one method chapter from The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Practical Theology – Part II (89-255). Write a three-page summary of this method and its implications for practice-led research projects. Post this for group interaction.

Due: January 31 @ 4 p.m. EST

2. Locating Yourself in the Field of Practical Theology

20 marks

One of the key goals of this course is to sift through the general field of practical theology in order to locate yourself as a practical theologian. It is essential that you come to terms with your own vocational history, your sense of personal mission and identity, and discover the approach that will sustain you as you enter into the field as a professional practical theologian. This should be written in a 12-15 page essay which includes the following elements:

- a. autobiography – Describe your vocational, intellectual, ecclesial and spiritual history.
- b. Give an account of your intellectual and spiritual mentors.
- c. Describe your current understanding of practical theology and practice-led research.
- d. Summarize your educational path [including your current program].
- e. Describe your current relationships and plans in respect to ecclesiastical bodies and academic societies.
- f. What are your five year goals in the field of practical theology (looking ahead)?
- g. Outline concrete plans that you are making to establish your voice as a practical theologian.
- h. Include significant interaction with the readings of the course, especially the methodological choices that you are forming as a practical theologian.

Due: February 14 @ 4 p.m. EST

3. Critical Book Study

15 marks

Sign-up in face-to-face class time to write an 8 page critical review of one of the core textbooks.

Post your paper to the group discussion and be prepared to engage in critical dialogue. What are the critical arguments of the book? What is the proposed approach to practical theology? How can the book be used to support research in practical theology? Practice-led research doctoral study? What are the differences in this approach from others we have reviewed in the course?

Richard Osmer, Practical Theology: An Introduction, 2008.

or

Terry Veling, Practical Theology: 'On Earth as It is in Heaven', 2005.

or

Pete Ward, Introducing Practical Theology: Mission, Ministry and the Life of the Church, 2017.

Each summary should include:

- a. a description of the primary contribution of the book/chapters to the theoretical lense of practical theology
- b. a brief summary of the primary insights gained from reading the book/articles and their wider import
- c. a brief statement about how this supports your own work in practice-led research.

Due: February 24, March 2 or March 9

3. Presentation of Individual Creative Proposal for Professional Practice 25 marks

Each course participant will create a proposal related to professional practice in his or her chosen focus area in the Doctor of Practical Theology program. The proposal should be creative and draw from the experience that the participant has in the practice. The proposals will be first presented in outline form in class for review and feedback from peers. A sign-up list will guide the presentation date on WebEx.

Due: Monday, March 23rd

Submit a presentation to the course website for your colleagues to respond to in the WebEx conversation scheduled for that week. For your presentation, you can use the screen to present a powerpoint or other presentation. Please submit the powerpoint presentation as part of the exercise for grading. Each presenter will have approx. 7 min. to introduce their topic and 10 min. for discussion at the WebEx meeting.

4. Essay in Practical Theology 4000 words 30 marks

Write an academic essay (4000 words) that critically engages both theory and practice in your area of focus. Draw deeply from course material and locate your essay in the larger discussion of the field of practical theology. Describe the theoretical lenses that supports your primary research and offer detailed consideration of the methods employed. The essay should reflect:

- a. A carefully selected meta-practice that is relevant to the participant's own vocation experience and research direction.
- b. A thoughtful articulation of problems and issues related to research in this area of practical theology and potential solutions.
- c. Skill in selecting and appropriating methods that will yield productive research in this area.
- d. Location of this topic within the wider field of practical theology.
- e. Demonstration of capacity to contribute to practice-led research on the chosen topic.

Due Date: April 3rd

Late Papers: Late assignments will be docked 1% each late day. (Extensions will only be granted in exceptional circumstances such as extended illness, etc.)

Spacing: All assignments are to be double-spaced.

Assignment Submission: All assignments are due by the end of the required day (4 p.m. EST).

College Style for Submission of Written Work:

All stylistic considerations (including but not limited to questions of formatting, footnotes, and bibliographic references) must conform to the McMaster Divinity College Style Guidelines for Essays and Theses <http://mcmasterdivinity.ca/wp-content/uploads/2018/02/mdcstyleguide.pdf>

Statement on Academic Honesty:

Academic dishonesty is a serious offence that may take any number of forms, including plagiarism, the submission of work that is not one's own or for which previous credit has been obtained, and/or unauthorized collaboration with other students. Academic dishonesty can result in severe consequences, e.g. failure of the assignment, failure of the course, a notation on one's academic transcript, and/or suspension or expulsion from the College.

Students are responsible for understanding what constitutes academic dishonesty. Please refer to the Divinity College Statement on Academic Honesty at www.mcmasterdivinity.ca/rules-regulations/

Gender Inclusive Language:

McMaster Divinity College uses inclusive language for human beings in worship services, student written materials, and all its publications. It is expected that inclusive language will be used in chapel services and all MDC assignments. In reference to biblical texts, the integrity of the original expressions and the names of God should be respected, but you will need to use gender-inclusive language for humans, and you will need to quote from a gender-inclusive version such as the following: NRSV (1989), NVC (1991), TEV/GNB/GNT (1992), CEV (1995), NLT (1996), TNIV (2005), and the Common English Bible (CEB 2011).

Textbook Purchase: All required textbooks for this class are available from the College's book service, READON Bookstore, McMaster Divinity College. Texts may be purchased on the first day of class. For advance purchase, you may contact READON Bookstor, 5 International Blvd, Etobicoke, Ontario M9W 6H3; Phone: 416-620-2934; Fax 416-622-2308; Email: books@readon.ca.
