Course Statement

“Simplifying to the extreme, I define postmodern as incredulity towards metanarratives” (Jean-François Lyotard). Preaching Christ to hearers who are instinctively dismissive of universal truth claims yet open to spiritual experience is no small challenge. Nonetheless, after discussing post-Christendom culture as an extension of the postmodern ethos and assessing recent homiletical responses, we will endeavour to construct a workable model for contemporary proclamation that emphasizes narrative, community, Christology, and spirituality. Please note that this course assumes at least basic familiarity with sermon preparation.

Specializations

Pastoral Studies

Christian Worldview

Church & Culture

Course Objectives

Knowing:

- ▶ To gain a basic familiarity with the characteristics of modernism, postmodernism, post-Christendom culture, and related developments.
- ▶ To assess the relevance of these concepts for proclamation of the Christian gospel.
- ▶ To explore models of communication appropriate to each of the foregoing perspectives.

Being:

- ▶ To explore and experience the implications of modernist and postmodern models of personal, social, and corporate identity.
- ▶ To help students clarify the relationship between their own spirituality identity and contemporary cultural contexts.
- ▶ To develop and function corporately as a community of learning.

Doing:

- ▶ To gain proficiency, as appropriate, in Scriptural exegesis for postmodern and subsequent cultural circumstances.
- ▶ To develop skills in the presentation and delivery of sermons.

Assignments

Written assignments are due at 2:00 p.m. on the due date, and are to be submitted via the Avenue to Learn course website. In order to avoid late penalties, students are responsible for ensuring that assignments have been successfully uploaded.

In completing course assignments, students are expected to identify and emphasize themes relevant to their chosen area of specialization, whether Pastoral Studies, Christian Worldview, or Church & Culture.

1. CLASS PARTICIPATION

Regular and timely participation in all class sessions, including peer evaluation of sermons presented in class. Auditors are requested to complete the course readings and required to complete the final assignment (“Preaching to Post-Christendom”).

2. READING

- a. Completion of all assigned reading. Written assignments should give evidence of course and background reading commensurate with programme standards:
- | | |
|---------------|-------------|
| Cert/MTS/MDiv | 3,000 pages |
| DPT | 4,000 pages |
| PhD | 8,000 pages |

3. THE AFTER-LIFE OF PI (all programmes) Due: January 15

According to the “Author’s Note,” Yann Martel’s novel Life of Pi was inspired by the claim of an accidental acquaintance: “I have a story that will make you believe in God.” In a style of your own choosing and in dialogue with the content or outlook of Life of Pi, compose an original sermon that will make its hearers believe in God.

Length (all programmes): 1,500 words 15%

4. REVIEWING THE OPTIONS (all programmes) Due: January 29

The purpose of this assignment is to help students gain familiarity with recent literature on the topic of preaching in a postmodern and/or post-Christendom context. Selecting from the Book Review Bibliography, students have the option of reviewing a single longer work (List I: Books for Single Review) or presenting a review and comparison of two shorter works (List II: Books for Review and Comparison). Inclusion on the bibliography does not imply endorsement of a particular work: reviews are expected to assess contributions and shortcomings alike. Students may propose an alternative selection, subject to the approval of the instructor (minimum length of 250 pages, at an appropriate level of academic discourse, provided that a review of the proposed work has not been submitted for credit in another course). A sign-up sheet will be available on the A2L course page.

Depending on the student’s area of specialization (Pastoral Studies, Christian Worldview, or Church & Culture), the review will assess

- a) the proposed analysis of contemporary cultural developments;
- b) the book’s engagement with and response to specific aspects of a postmodern and/or post-Christendom worldview from the perspective of Christian faith;
- c) the theological, cultural, and pastoral appropriateness of any proposed homiletical, pedagogical, or other leadership strategies.

Essays for Research Degree programmes will be distinguished by (and graded in relation to) their interaction with contemporary developments in postmodern or post-postmodern philosophy and homiletical theory.

Length:	Cert/MTS/MDiv	2,000 words	25%
	DPT	2,500 words	30%
	MA/PhD	4,000 words	25%

In addition to the written assignment, students will present an account of their chosen work(s) to the other members of the class. After summarizing content and argument, explain what challenges this book or books identify and how the material can help your fellow students preach more faithfully or wisely in a postmodern, post-Christendom setting (~10 minutes in length).

5. PAUL FOR THE END OF THE AGES (Basic Degree programmes only) Due: March 11

Reflecting on the biblical account of Israel in the wilderness, Paul observes that “These things were written down for our instruction, upon whom the end of the ages has come” (1 Cor 10:11). Assuming a similar perspective, compose a brief thematic commentary on either Ephesians, Philippians, or Colossians, interacting where appropriate with other contemporary commentators or homileticians and interpreting the letter of your choice in such a way as to address specifically postmodern, post-secular, and/or post-Christian concerns. In conclusion, provide a one or two page outline of a sermon series that is based on your commentary and suitable for presentation in the context of your home church or field education setting. Do not include the proposed sermons. Essays must identify and interact with the student's area of programme specialization (Church & Culture or Pastoral Studies).

Length: Cert/MTS/MDiv 2,500 words 30%

6. POST-CHRISTENDOM CHURCH; POST-CHRISTENDOM SCHOLARSHIP (MA/DPT/PhD programmes only) Due: March 11

The purpose of this assignment (which is in two parts) is to facilitate reflection on the moral, pastoral, and intellectual implications of ministry and scholarship in the context of post-postmodern, post-Christendom culture. In Part One, making use of key resources from the course bibliography (especially section 1 "Theory and Concept"), explain and discuss the relevance of cultural definitions such as postmodernism, metamodernism, post-Christendom, and post-secularism for Christian identity and/or theology in general. In Part Two, discuss the significance of these concepts for confessionally-oriented scholarship and/or pastoral ministry. MA, PhD, and DPT students will each focus on issues of relevance to their respective programmes of research.

Length: DPT 3,500 words 35%
 MA/PhD 6,000 words 40%

7. PREACHING TO POST-CHRISTENDOM (all programmes) Due: March 4, 18; April 1

Compose and present an original sermon that addresses the concerns of post-postmodernism and Christian identity within a post-Christendom culture. Although scheduling requirements are such that sermons cannot exceed the assigned length, creativity—in particular the use of contemporary literature and film—is encouraged. Sermons will be presented in class for peer evaluation.

Length: Cert/MTS/MDiv 15 minutes maximum 30%
 DPT 15 minutes maximum 20%
 MA/PhD 15 minutes maximum 15%

Style and Documentation

Stylistic considerations (including but not limited to questions of formatting, footnotes, and bibliographic references) must conform to the McMaster Divinity College Style Guidelines for Essays and Theses: <https://mcmasterdivinity.ca/resources-forms/mdc-style-guide>. To assist with composition and completion of assignments, students are encouraged to make use of grammarly.com (<https://www.grammarly.com>), along with the academic support services provided by McMaster's Student Success Centre (<https://studentsuccess.mcmaster.ca/academic-support>). Failure to observe appropriate form will result in grade reductions. See also "CRITERIA FOR GRADING OF WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS," below.

Research assignments for professional degree students will interact with a minimum of six scholarly articles and monographs; assignments submitted for credit in the MA, DPT, or PhD programmes are expected to cite as many secondary sources as necessary to provide a comprehensive account of contemporary discussion on the topic in question.

Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty is not qualitatively different from other types of dishonesty. It consists of misrepresenting the ownership of written work by deception or by other fraudulent means. In an academic setting this may include any number of forms such as: copying or using unauthorized aids in tests, examinations; plagiarism, i.e., submitting work that is not one's own (regardless of the means of its production) but passing it off as if it is; submitting work for credit in a course for which credit is being or has already been given, unless the previously submitted work was presented as such to the instructor of the second course and has been deemed acceptable for credit by the instructor of that course; aiding and abetting another student's dishonesty; giving false information for the purposes of gaining admission or credit; giving false information for the purposes of obtaining deferred examinations or extension of deadlines; forging or falsifying McMaster University or McMaster Divinity College documents. For further information (and examples of how to avoid plagiarism), see <https://www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity/students/typeofad/plagiarism/>

AODA

In accordance with the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA), the content of this course is intended to be accessible to all students who are enrolled in the course, including those with disabilities. If a student requires accommodation to participate fully in this course, that student is to contact SAS at McMaster University, who will then work directly with the McMaster Divinity College Registrar to negotiate reasonably appropriate accommodation for the student. The MDC Registrar will communicate with faculty regarding necessary accommodations. Please note that an accommodation is not retroactive and must be requested in advance to allow sufficient time for implementation.

Gender Inclusive Language

McMaster Divinity College uses inclusive language for human beings in worship services, student written materials, and all its publications. It is expected that inclusive language will be used in chapel services and all MDC assignments. In reference to biblical texts, the integrity of the original expressions and the names of God should be respected, but you will need to use gender-inclusive language for humans, and you will need to quote from a gender-inclusive version such as, for example, the following: NRSV (1989), NCV (1991), TEV/GNB/GNT (1992), CEV (1995), NLT (1996), NIV (2011), and the CEB (2011).

Protocols for Live-Streaming/Online Participation

Appropriate etiquette for online participation is set out in the document Online Classroom Etiquette.pdf (<https://is.gd/rZmmwH>)

Cell Phone/Computer Policy

Students should refrain from conducting cell phone conversations while class is in session. Should you need to maintain contact with family members and/or your church or ministry, please turn off the ringer so as to avoid disturbing others; upon receipt of an urgent call, you may discretely excuse yourself from the classroom. The same policy applies to all computer-generated sound schemes, pagers, or other electronic annunciation systems.

Deadlines and Late Submission Penalty

Assignments are due at 2:00 p.m. on the due date, after which they will be considered late and penalized accordingly. The penalty for late submission of assignments is 1% per calendar day (without limit). The final date for submission of late work is April 5, 2024, after which assignments cannot be accepted for grading or credit.

Basic Guidelines for Composing a Book Review

1. Publication Data

- a. Provide essential bibliographical data, in the proper format.

2. Description

- a. Who is the author, and what is his/her expertise or qualification for writing?
- b. What main points does the author make? Is there a key passage or statement?
- c. How does each part relate to what precedes and follows?
- d. For what audience is this argument/discussion intended?

3. Evaluation

- a. Is the author's thesis cogent and convincing?
- b. Are there unstated assumptions or gaps in logic? Does the author offer novel insights and perspectives? An innovative synthesis of current knowledge?
- c. Who are the author's main discussion partners? Who does the author cite for support, or argue against, and why?

4. Application

- a. How do the author's insights apply to your own field of endeavour or research?
- b. What are the implications of this study for the life and ministry of the church?
- c. To whom would you recommend this book (or not)?
